COMMANDER
Wanda Burson, P

We have all had a pretty dramatic Fall this year. The weather won the last round and we are all recovering. Our waterways are pretty clear, but still be careful when you are out in your boat. Things are still floating around out there.

At our October dinner meeting we had dinner in the downstairs bar area as both elevators were out at the Yacht Club. It was cozy but just what we needed. Our dinner meeting in November is on the 16th as there was a conflict with the Yacht Club for our regular date. We will be electing new Bridge Officers and approving next year's budget at that meeting.

Operations training is scheduled for November 12th at 9:00 a.m. at the Learning Center. This is open to everyone and I highly recommend it to anyone new to our organization or who is assuming a new office. Doesn't hurt for those who have attended to take it as a refresher course. This explains everything about our organization in a nutshell, and how it is run.

We are gearing up for the Wine and Hors d'oeuvres Party – our fund raiser. We have a lot going on in the next three months. So stay well, take care of each other and we will see you soon.

EXECUTIVE OFFICER
D/C Gene Burson, JN

What can I do to help you volunteer more for this organization?

You may be participating in boating activities, going to luncheons, or even playing cards at the Learning Center, but here I am talking about taking classes, teaching classes, being a VSC examiner, or any of the other activities that directly support the mission.

Fall is when we are most active to present safe boating classes, prepare for our fundraiser, do another survey of the ATONs in our waterways and serve our community by being involved in the community Christmas tree construction, street and boat parades, and celebrate the lighting of the Christmas tree.

To be completely successful, we need all members to volunteer. You do not need to be in everything, but there are so many things that need to be done, that I believe you can be a member of 2 or 3 different projects.

Each year you get a membership roster with the names and contact information of all members with a separate section for the officers and committee chairs. Contact a committee chair to learn what is involved if you believe you have an interest to volunteer.

The new officers will have a class, presented by the District, to have the officers better understand the responsibilities of their office. They will also meet all the officers in all the squadrons of the District to share experiences.

Each squadron is responsible to present a class on "Operations Training" for all their members to attend. This class teaches the functions of the Squadron and how all functions work together to make the Squadron successful.

I encourage everyone to attend the Operations Training class to learn more about this organization, how they can help, and to enjoy more of the offerings.

The Power Squadron welcomes back the snowbirds gradually returning from the Great White North. Hopefully folks fared alright with Ian. Our condo's pool (by report) resembles New York's East River and needs new pumps, heater, and assorted other stuff. Ted Reiss had advised the ExCom that the storm compromised around 300 boats. Reports are that debris has not been a problem with warnings to watch for the inevitably shifted shoals and sand bars. Linette Chaney reminded that the ship's store at Stitchers is up and running. Progress continues with the annual fund raiser and hors d'oeuvre dinner – our signature event. The November 5 cruise and lunch has been cancelled. We look forward to another dinner and educational event on Wednesday, November 16. Our speaker will talk about the current status of Marco's waterways.

Storm is over, time to keep learning. We all have a story to tell, what went right and what could have made a difference. The Hurricane Preparedness seminar might be on your list of seminars for the Winter.

Our full Fall and Winter schedule of courses and seminars is in this issue and on the Club website. Now is a good time to plan for your particular interests, whether in a course or seminar, to learn more about boating. Our beginning courses are the America's Boating Course (ABC) which addresses many aspects of safety and the Boat Handling course which goes into much more detail. Full description of the BH course is on our website. Next are two courses on Marine Navigation, how to get from one place to another using a compass, a global positioning device, chart plotter, radar, charts, pencils, course plotters, computers and common sense, all while being safe. As you will see on the website, we have many multi-session courses and two-hour seminars planned. Pick one or more out. Send me an email to register and prepare for an adventure in learning.

A recent look at our membership revealed that about half have not attended any course or seminar. Boating as couples can be more fun if both share in the planning and executing of each voyage.

Our next seminar is: How to Use a Chart and GPS, scheduled for December 6 & 7, one evening for the Chart and the next night related to using an electronic chart on a Chartplotter.

Go boating, be safe and keep learning.

Christmas Parade

The parade is from Balfour on San Marco to Barfield on Dec 10th. The parade kicks off at 6:30 but you have to be there early to get a place to watch. Look for an email about the tree lighting details. Santa's arrival with pictures of Santa and the kids on his knee is at the MIA on the 25th of November beginning at 6:00 p.m. and you can down load the pictures for free off the website.

Fire Response: Putting out the Fire

Last month we discussed how to prevent a fire from occurring on your boat. This week we are going to discuss how to respond to a fire.

Fire on a boat, of any size, is more of a threat than the same fire on land. On land we can simply walk away. On our boat away from land, we enter another potentially threatening environment – the water. In either event, the captain must make a fast and clear decision.

Fight or flee? If the fire is a fuel fire (that is, some part of the gasoline system has been breached), recognize the situation as very dangerous. If the fire is small and does not threaten the main or auxiliary fuel tanks, trying to put out the fire with your fire extinguisher might be advisable. However, be careful; gasoline fires can go from small to huge in a matter of seconds!

At the same time you are fighting the fire, have someone put out the anchor and everyone put on their life jackets. Most fires are in the mid-section or rear of the boat and the anchor will keep the bow into the wind with the smoke and flame going astern.

I have already made the decision that if I have a gasoline fire aboard, I am “out of here”! We will don life jackets and abandon ship. It’s now the insurance company’s problem. You must make your own decision; if you can make it in advance that’s good, and then stick to it.

Propane fires are a close second. I would probably try to extinguish the fire IF I could shut off the propane tank at the tank without getting burned. Your call.

If the fire is gasoline or propane fueled and you have abandoned ship, be careful if the fire seems to have gone out of its own accord. Think twice before re-boarding. The fire may still be smoldering and could explode anew at any time.

If the fuel fire occurs when you are secured to the fuel dock, there are other things you can do. If the fire starts from a spark where the filler hose is going into the gas tank, DO NOT pull the hose out of the tank! Stop the flow of gas and go for the fuel shutoff switch on land and the larger extinguisher on dock. (Know ahead of time where these are located.)

Other fires, such as grease flare-ups on a grill or stove, present challenges but are usually more easily extinguished. First, turn off the flame. If you can smother the fire, that’s good. Otherwise, use your fire extinguisher and don’t stop until the extinguisher is empty. (That won’t be long with a B-I size.) DO NOT TRY TO EXTINGUISH A GREASE FIRE WITH WATER!

To operate the extinguisher on any type of fire (Of course, you have already read the instructions on the extinguisher.), detach the extinguisher from its bracket, pull the safety pin and then squeeze the trigger. Spray the fire with a back-and-forth movement directed at the base of the fire.

If the fire is wood, paper, or other combustibles, your chances of putting it out are good. But watch out if the fire is close to fuel; it could spread and be uncontrollable real fast.

Just as soon as you can after initial suppression efforts are underway, put on your life preserver in preparation for the last resort – abandoning the ship!

Membership Corner D/Lt/C Peggy Reiss

Welcome to the Membership Corner! My goal as membership chair is to have new members highlighted here. Our Club members are interesting and exciting folks who enjoy boating, getting connected with other boaters, becoming more educated in boating, and being involved with our community.

This month we feature Jane Orsulak and Tim Benincasa. America’s Boating Club Marco Island are happy to have them as members of our organization.

Jane lives in North Lima, OH. She is originally from Ellwood City, a small industrial town in Western PA but has lived in Washington, DC, VA and other locales.

Her Computer Science degree was earned at Indiana

University of PA and then a Master's in System Engineering from George Mason University.

Her career has spanned some 37 years, primarily in software and systems engineering for Raytheon. She retired as a Principal Engineering Fellow in 2018 having received many awards along that path. One of which she is most proud is from the Society of Women Engineers (SWE) where she received the Spark award for Excellence in Mentoring in 2015.

Her family life (#5 out of 9 siblings) is quite active with tons of siblings, nieces, cousins, aunts and uncles. She has one son, Daniel who lives in DC and is a Software Engineer.

She is very active as a Gardener, Amateur Horticulturist, E- Bicyclist, and Fitness. She loves to cook and can and make one mean Salsa, hence the nickname "Salsa Queen", She has done extensive hiking around the world having reached the summit at Kilimanjaro.

Boating experience is currently limited to shallow river boating in the Allegheny River at her family cabin in Emlenton, PA. She is looking forward to learning a ton more through the MISPS. Her initial interests lie in co-operative charting, GPS systems/Electronic navigation, and of course small boat handling as well as the social aspects (including playing cards). She currently serves as the Eagles Eye newsletter editor.

She recently built a new home in Naples in a development known as Esplanade at Hacienda Lakes and lives there with Tim Benincasa.

Tim Benincasa is also from North East OH, as a reinstated member of the Marco Island Sail and Power Squadron.

He was active in the Sandusky, OH Power Squadron having received his AP, lots of elective courses and of course 10 merit marks. In addition, he was a P/Lt/C- Executive Officer serving on the Bridge. He developed a custom member data base, membership handbook and worked on the newsletter, The Watch among other activities.

His boating experience and interests include 20 years of boating on the great lakes of mostly Lake Erie-Sandusky Bay (OH) which was his home port.

Power boating is his passion having most recently a Tiara Inboard with twin screws which was kept docked at the Sandusky Yacht Club known as the "T and A Express". He was also very active with this organization having served on various committees as well as a Trustee.

He is from Alliance, a small town in Northeast Ohio and then went to University of Cincinnati where he graduated with an Engineering degree. Then completed his MBA from University of Chicago went to work for various high-tech electronics companies such as Eaton Controls, Gould Electronics and others. During his tenure at Gould, he was part of a skunk works and his team developed and sold the original Wireless Low Tire Pressure Warning system known today as LTPWS. He was awarded 2 patents during that time. Gould was bought and sold numerous times and Tim and two others bought out the company that then became known as Epic technologies. He has been retired for some time now.

He has 3 daughters. Amy is a sales executive with a large pharmaceutical company living in the Chicago area. Emily is a therapist living in Mentor, OH and Victoria, a fashion designer living in San Francisco. Besides Boating he also enjoys E-biking, Wine Tasting, Ham Radio (WA8OML), Woodworking and Theater.

Tim and Jane are members of the Southwest Florida Freedom Boat Club.

VESSEL SAFETY CHECKS

We now have Vessel Safety Check stickers for 2022. If you want a 2023 Vessel Safety Check (and you should if you will be involved in any squadron boating activities), please request one by contacting John Moyer (jmoyer1528@aol.com). VSCs are free and we can send you the paperwork in advance so you can get ready for your inspection. We are also looking for individuals who would like to volunteer to be a VSC inspector.

BOAT LIFT SAFETY

If your storm water came up above your electrical outlets/switches, control lift box - all should be opened, checked, and dried out. If any rust is seen on connections, then they should be replaced. Make sure to turn off the main breaker to your dock.

I had an electrician come to my dock and he added, if the control box is energized and not properly grounded, he has seen where the box catches on fire and burns the dock.

The same will apply to your home outlets that were under water.
